REPUBLICAN COUNTY TICKET.

For County Judge,

SAUEL F. GERRH.

For County Clerk,

GEORGE P. HARDY.

For County Treasurer,

OEO M. WOOD.

For Superintendent of Schools,

JOHN T. MONTGOMERY.

Not a word does the Sun contain this morning in commendation of the ticket nominated last Saturday, nor does it even hint the names of the candidates at the head of its columns. Why is this? Are the candidates not thoroughly "identified with the movement," or does the Sun man want another ticket, made up of newer converts?

The Republicans of Champaign county met in convention at Urbana yesterday, and nominated J. W. Langley for judge, J. C. McCullough for county clerk, Thomas A. Lewis for treasurer, S. L. Wilson for superintendent of schools. A resolution was introduced endorsing the policy of President Hayes, but it was voted down after a number of sharp speeches.

There is much versatility in a newspaper man's life. The editor of one of our exchanges is trustee of a village, owns the champion bull dog of the town, is denizen of a church, manager of the village opera house, splits kindling wood in the morning and addresses a public meeting in the evening, and last, but by no means least, runs a seven column, patent outside weekly—Rhinbeck Gazette.

Last year the value of eggs imported into Great Britain was $13,051,355. An English paper says that "even this large importation failed to satisfy our requirements, and the high price of eggs in the market at the present time shows that we could buy more and eat more if we could only get them. It seems probable that substantial help in this as in other matters relating to food supply will come from the other side of the Atlantic. Canada is establishing an egg trade with us which promises to assume important dimensions. Last week one steamer alone brought to Liverpool from Canada 280 barrels of eggs, and there is every prospect of a continuous stream of eggs from that country." If the English could get no more eggs than the Canadians could spare, they would receive scarcely an egg apiece in a year.

Gen Sherman's Start in Life.

(Manchester, O., Letter.)

In the Sherman family there were eleven children, dependent upon the meagre income of their father's legal practice. A young man named Edwin, who had worked his way through college, and had come from the salt works, where some money had been earned, settled in Mansfield to practice law. His ability was recognized by Mr. Sherman, who assisted him, and when upon the bench turned over much employment to Edwin. Upon the death of the father the young lawyer had become known. Thomas Ewing, and for kindness received wished to make some substantial return. He resolved to take one of the boys and give him a thorough education. At a stated time he visited the family, when the five boys were brought before him. He turned to the eldest sister, saying, "Which had I better take?" She replied, "There is little 'Gump,' he's the smartest." The suggestion was received, and the boy "Gump" has become the general of the United States army.

CONGRESS meets on the 15th of October. Mr. Adams, clerk of the house, has not made up any roll of members yet, and will not do so until the last moment. Members from all districts, except six, have had their pay certificates endorsed by him, which is equivalent to putting their names upon the roll. The districts whose representatives have not been paid are in the following states: Two from Louisiana, one from Florida, one from Colorado, one from Missouri, and one from California. No certificates from the two last named districts have yet been sent in. The democratic candidates will receive their prima facie papers in the Louisiana and Florida cases, and it is expected the political division of the full house will be Republicans, 141, democrats, 152, a democratic majority of 11.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 1.—Look out for an advance in the price of petroleum. The negotiations between the Standard and the Columbia Conduct Oil Companies, which have been in progress all summer, were concluded today by the absorption of the latter by the former. The figures are withheld. It is reported on good authority that the Standard has also purchased the Empire Transportation Company. This gives the Standard Company a monopoly of the transportation business, and will result in higher prices for oil.

BETTER TIMES.

Indications that the Good Time is Coming Quickly.

N. Y. Tribune.

Better times undoubtedly are here. The evidences multiply, and have been presented in detail for some weeks as they have appeared. Were there no reckless spirit of speculation, eager to mistake better times for good times, anxious to have everybody forget the dangers yet to be passed, we might look with confidence for a gradual and steady improvement. The chief danger has been from over confidence; many a patient, after improvement had begun, has lost his life through incautious exposure, and relapse. The signs indicate that the improvement is not yet rapid, but gradual; that it does not extend as yet to all departments of industry and trade, but appears more clearly in those which form the basis of our system, that all dangers are not yet passed, but may be passed by timely care.

I. Doubt in regard to the magnitude or safe harvesting of the wheat crop gradually lessens. In some localities the yield does not appear quite as was expected, in others the harvest has not placed the crop wholly beyond danger, but it is nearly certain that the largest crop yet grown in this country will yet be realized.

II. In wholesale trade, there is a real improvement. The commerce of the country is believed to be on a safer basis than for several years, the activity here and other places is very encouraging, and in some branches of business it is represented that the trade is larger than it has been since 1871. After four years of strict economy, the country is forced to buy somewhat largely; old things have worn out, and must be replaced.

III. The railroads which report their earnings regularly, return larger earnings for August and September than were realized at the same time last year. In some instances the gain is remarkably large, though on the Central Pacific and Chicago & Alton, the losses are large. But it is not proper to forget that the last year was one of extraordinary hardship for the railroads. Out of twelve roads reporting for August, which also reported in 1875 and 1874, only six exceed, while six fall below their earnings of two or three years ago.

IV. The sinking premium on gold is an element of strength and encouragement. In case of any disaster, arising from excessive speculation or uncertainty of legal tenders in the banks, the premium on gold would quickly disappear or be so reduced that coin would come into partial use. The legitimate trade and industry of the country then has not far to fall, in any event, before reaching a firm and solid footing.

WASHINGTON TO BE LIVELY THIS WINTER.

Washington Star.

From present indications it is quite evident that Washington, during the approaching sessions of congress, will be crowded with a large number of visitors and sojourners. We learn that the inquiry for houses is almost unprecedented, that there has been no such demand since the war times. The paralyzed business interests of the country demand important consideration at the hands of congress, and from what we can gather, it is quite certain that the various business industries of the country will be largely represented in the character of our visitors this winter. This class of live American citizens, representing the capital, business industries and labor interests of the country, will, it is hoped, exert a healthy influence in shaping important legislation in the interest of the whole country, and the winter's work is liable to be quite in contrast with the war of politicians of the last session of congress. If this is a government of the people, by the people and for the people, then there has never before been a time when the people's material interests were more in need of proper consideration by the national legislature than the present. Now is the time for business men to come to the front, and mere politicians remain in the rear. We can assure the country that Washington is in excellent condition to accommodate all visitors, and that the beauty, comfort and attractions of our city will impress them all with a feeling of pride in the grandeur, progress and development of their national capital. Come on.

The average interview of the President with the hardy Tennesseean is thus described by the Nashville American: "A middle-aged man, during the reception at the Lamar House, went in to see the President. Upon vibrating his hand the President said: 'Why, my friend, I think I have shaken hands with you before.' 'No, sir, you didn't speak to me, no sir, you didn't,' said the man, with great emphasis, as he grew very red in the face. 'But I think I recognize that pipe-stem,' said the President. 'That pipe-stem!' remarked the man, with apparent astonishment, as he took it, clay pipe and all, out of his pocket and exhibiting it, 'why, sir, they all smoke that kind of a pipe up here.' 'Well,' said the President, 'we are all smoking the same kind of a pipe—the pipe of peace.' 'Well,' Mr. President, I'm glad you said that, for I'll be damned if I ain't with you. Give us your hand.'"

THE WHEAT-KING OF MINNESOTA.

(Large Minneapolis Times.)

We had the curiosity the other day to ask Mr. Dalrymple what he expected the profit on his wheat crop would be this year. He replied that at present prices for wheat his net profit would be about $10 per acre. As he is half owner of 7,500 acres of wheat in the Red River Valley, and has 1,500 acres on his home farm at Cottage Grove, Minn., his profits this year may be safely put down at $50,000. Mr. Dalrymple has five steam threshers now at work on his 1,000-acre farm at Casselton, each one thrashing an average of 1,000 per day. The grain is hauled directly to the cars as fast as threshed, and shipped to New York, via Duluth and the lakes. He loads and forwards fifteen cars each day. At 350 bushels to the car, the crop of this place will make 257 car-loads. The yield from what has been threshed so far is estimated at 90,000 bushels—an average of 22½ bushels per acre. Add to this 35,000 on the Grandin farm, in which Mr. Dalrymple has a half interest, and which will average equally well, the two farms will produce 168,750 bushels of wheat this year. "Dalrymple Farm" is a tract of about 11,000 acres of land, near Casselton, twenty miles west of Fargo, on the line of the Northern Pacific Railroad. It is owned by George W. Cass and P. B. Cheney, of New York, and Oliver Dalrymple, the "Wheat-King of Minnesota," as he is termed. Twelve hundred acres were broken in 1875 and sowed to wheat last year. This year there are 4,000 acres in wheat, and a splendid crop it is, too, and 3,000 acres additional this season were broken for seeding next year.

Mr. Dalrymple also owns a half interest in what is known as the Grandin Farm, a tract of 40,000 acres, just north of Elm river, in Trail county, Dakota, thirty-five miles north of Fargo. The other owners are the Grandin Brothers, bankers, at Tidouate, Pa. On this farm there are 3,500 acres in wheat this year, and some 3,000 acres broken for next year. To harvest this crop of 75,000 acres on the two places it required forty-two self-binding reapers, 225 horses and mules, and nine steam threshers, each with a capacity of 1,000 bushels per day, are now at work threshing the grain.

In addition to his interest in these two immense farms, Mr. Dalrymple owns 2,000 acres of land in Cottage Grove, Minn., near St. Paul, 1,500 acres of which is in wheat, so that either as sole or half owner, Mr. Dalrymple is interested in 9,000 acres of wheat this year, which will be increased to 15,000 next year. We may add that it is the intention of the owners of these two huge farms to break on an average about 5,000 each year until the whole 51,000 acres are brought under cultivation. They have abundant means, and the experiment so far has proved that it is not possible to make a better investment of money. This is the second year of the enterprise, and so far as the net profits have been over $10 per acre each year for every acre.

A FAVORITE STORY OF DICKENS.

The following story may have gone the round of the newspapers, but it is good enough for a re-telling, since Dickens said of it: "You must know that I have appropriated that story and acquired immense reputation by it." It occurs in a paper of reminiscences in Saturday for October, entitled "A Yankee Tar and His Friends." On one of Capt. Morgan's voyages from America to England, he had under his care a very attractive young lady, who speedily distinguished herself by her ready wit and her charming conversation. She was quite ready to marry one, but what could she do with five? In the embarrassment of her riches she sought the captain, who, after a few moments' thought, said: "It's a fine, calm day; suppose, by accident, you should fall overboard; I'll have a boat lowered ready to pick up, and you can take the man that loves you well enough to jump after you." This novel proposition met the young lady's views, and the programme was accordingly carried out, with the trifling exception that four of the young men took the plunge, and, being picked up by the boat, presented themselves a dripping quartette upon the ship's deck. The object of their undampened ardor, no less wet than themselves, fled to her state-room, and sent for her adviser, the captain. "Now, Captain," cried she, in despair, "what am I to do?" "Ah, my dear," replied the captain, "if you want a sensible husband, take the dry one"—which she did.

Tilden and Hendricks.

Detroit Tribune.

"Please state," said Thomas A. Hendricks in a hushed whisper to a reporter, immediately upon his arrival in New York, "that my health is superb. I feel ten years younger than I did when a boy, and my muscles and appetite are simply enormous." "And how did you leave Mr. Tilden?" said the reporter with considerable interest. "Poor man!" said Mr. Hendricks, shaking his head. "More skin and bone, a hectic flush, a horrid cough, and all sorts of dreadful things. He may live to get home, but he's fading away."

THE INDIANS AND THE PRESIDENT.

How Grant Puts in His Time.

HAYES TO GO ON ANOTHER VISIT.

Washington, Oct. 1.—The final conference with the Indian delegations took place today, at the executive mansion. Spotted Tail informed the president that he had decided to have his agency on Wounded Knee creek. He waited his great father to agree to this. "We don't want to move now," he said. "We will go in the spring, or any time after that." You told us your nation is increasing. We want to increase in numbers and property. You said you wished us to live like white men. We want the kind of cattle white men have—short horns. I want everything in writing before I go home so there will be no mistake. We want teachers of English teachers. We should like a saw and grist mill and agricultural implements and seeds. I am very well dressed, and so are the others. They want forty dollars apiece to buy things for their women and children. As the weather is getting a little cold, we would like to have an overcoat apiece. Red Cloud next spoke. He said he had roamed the country where he lives for 56 years, and should like his agency at White Clay creek. "That ground he could not give up. If you were in our country and looked at our people, water would come into your eyes. I am poorer than any of them. Army officers took my ponies, and other horses have been stolen from me and my crops destroyed. The damage is $10,000. I want half of this in money and the remainder in other things. The president then addressed the Indians as follows: MY FRIENDS: I am glad to see you this morning, and I am glad to see you dress like white people. You look well in your clothes like white people. It shows you wish to live like white people. I have not much to say about the business that brought you here to-day. You have spoken about the places where you wish to have your agencies. I am glad you would be satisfied to have agencies on reservations allotted to you; but, as I told you, it is too late in the season to change your present agencies. It is too late for the removal of your supplies to the places you have named. Winter will soon come on, the streams will be frozen up, and therefore no movement of supplies can be made. We wish you to help your people to remove near the supplies, and Gen. Crook will assist you to do so. Next spring places can be selected near White river that will suit you. You want trunks, overcoats and money. The great council of my Nation has put money and property for you in charge of the Secretary of the Interior. He can give you whatever the great council has authorized him to give you. I think he can satisfy you. This is the end of our grand council. I am glad you came. Let me advise you to move as near to the supplies as you can, and next spring you can go to your reservations. I am glad you are satisfied with White river. Before you go the Secretary will give you as many of the things you have asked for as he can, and how I will be glad to shake hands with each one of you and wish you well.

The Indians then shook hands with the President and Secretary of the Interior, appearing satisfied with the remarks of the President.

To-morrow they visit the tomb of Washington, and before leaving there will be presented with, overcoats, and other warm raincoats, and a small sum of money.

CARBONDALE, Ill., Oct. 1.—News is just in from Williamson, county of a duplicate of the St. Elmo shooting affray. The particulars are meager, but substantially as follows: David Conrad, who had stolen some oxen while being pursued by Sheriff's posse near Human's prairie yesterday, turned on his horse and with a gun loaded with buckshot, fired at the crowd. One of the pursuing party named James, received the charge, which tore one side of his head to shreds and instantly killing him. The murderer fled and was not again seen until some parties recognized him and a confederate, as they got off the Marion train here at 5 o'clock to-day. The men made quick time out of town, taking the railroad going south. As soon as notified Deputy Sheriff Toler followed, tracking them to "Barkley" where the men were seen at dark still going south. It is supposed they are making for Missouri, and Officer Toler followed them to night's passenger train.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Next week Thursday, the President having accepted the invitation, will attend the agricultural fair at Frederick, Md. He will be accompanied by several members of the Cabinet who have also been invited.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Oct. 1.

Courier-Journal's special reporter, Louisville, Ky., speaking of the trial of Perry White by Hon. James C. Clark, formerly United States Senator from Russia, gives the following verdict of the coroner's jury: "Perry White came to his death by a pistol shot wound inflicted by C. M. Clay, Sunday, Sept. 30th, 1877. Testimony being given under oath by C. M. Clay, he being the only witness, we are constrained to justly find Clay, and believe that he did not self-defense." (The particulars accompanying the telegram as to how the killing was brought about, it is understood, however, that White attacked Clay because of the dismissal of his mother from Clay's farm-house, near Johnsonville.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—A Glasgow

letter says: Ex-President Grant's daily round is to pray half an hour, breakfast an hour, to make purgative, go sight-seeing three or four hours, lunch an hour, go sight-seeing again, drive from one to five hours, and after dinner spend the evening with invited guests of his lordship, the host.

FORT CLARK, Texas, Oct. 1.—Col. Shafter crossed the Rio Grande, yesterday, with six hundred men and two Gatling guns, to exterminate Bulls from his position. A thousand Mexicans led by Piedras, Negras, Saragosa, Viala, and Renava, to day. Their destination is unknown.

Galveston, Oct. 1.—No collision is reported from the Rio Grande, but it is thought that Bulls and Shafter have fought with the Indians on Mokiliani and there are eight companies now in Mexico. Gen. Falcou, commanding the Mexicans at Piedras Negras, has ordered his officers to keep on the trail of the Americans until they recross the river.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 1.—In this town the Democrats elected their entire ticket to day, by majorities ranging from 250 to 500. There are charges of extensive frauds in several wards.

The vote in the state on the two constitutional amendments was light, but both are probably carried. The first prohibits extra compensation to public officers; the second prohibits town aid to railroad companies.

NO FAILURE KNOWN.

There is no case on record where Dr. Morris' Syrup of Tar, Wild Cherry and Horehound has failed to give satisfaction. On the other hand, wherever it has been used by our people, in severe colds, coughs, asthma, bronchitis, croup, whooping-cough and consumption, they are enthusiastic in its praise. Containing no opium or other dangerous drug, it does not constipate, and is safe to administer in all conditions of health. This is an important announcement, and the suffering are advised to heed it. Trial size 10 cts; large sizes 50 cts. and One Dollar.—Sold by Dr. A. J. Stone, Decatur.

Also agents for Prof. Parker's Pleasant Worm Syrup, which is sure death to worms, pleasant to take, and requires no physic. Price 25 cents. Try it.

"Pro Bono Publico."—What is the use in crying hard times when you can buy the Best Mediant oysters at 30 cents per can, A Solid-Bill Standard for 40c, and the Finest Selects at only 60 cents. Don't be deceived into buying cheap oysters, but come to 21 North Main street, where I have the largest and freshest stock in the city. I warrant every can. Sept. 23-30. A. H. IMBODEN.

For Rent.—A good story and a half house, on North Water street, with seven rooms and summer kitchen. Apply at this office. [June 8-dm]
